SYNODICAL MEETING EXPECTED TO CLOSE TODAY WITH NAMING OF YEAR'S OFFICERS

Leaders Expect To Finish Program Of Work During The Afternoon

MISS JOSEPHINE PETRIE MAKES PRINCIPAL SPEECH

Deacon Presented By Children Of Churches Before Large Congregation

The synodical association of the women of the Presbyterian church, U. A. in Alabama, is in session at the Westminster Presbyterian church here, and leaders express the belief that the business will be completed in time for adjournment this afternoon, allowing the election of officers for the ensuing year, and the selection of the next meeting place. Reports are headed for today from Mrs. L. F. Goodwin, for the Freedman's Committee; from Mrs. Hal Mullin, for the Seafarers' Work; from Mrs. E. C. Tyne for Young People's work; from Mrs. Chalmers Moore for Literature and Education; from Mrs. Fannie Jones, Membership Secretary and from Mrs. W. D. Moody of Birmingham, Secretary and Treasurer. Last night Miss Josephine Petrie of New York, Young People's Secretary, addressed a large crowd at the Westminster church, following two attractive religious pageants.

Address Based on Indian Life. Miss Josephine Petrie, National Secretary of the Synodical Association of the Presbyterian church U. S., made the principal address of the Westminster conference last night. Miss Petrie is in charge of the "Child Welfare Department," and in her work travels throughout the United States and our Island possessions. She left for Florida this morning to attend the Synodical meeting of the Presbyterian women of that state.

As Miss Petrie opened her address at night with a large number of children grouped near her, where they could be sure to catch the words of the speaker.

Because she knew the interest of children in Indians to know no bounds Miss Petrie based what she had to say upon her experiences with the Indians in Idaho and Arizona. First the distinguished visitor told of her work with the Navajo Indians of Arizona, of their sod built "Hogans," opened at the top so as to let the smoke made in cooking food escape; of how the missionaries first taught that "cleanliness is next to godliness"; and of how an aged Indian grand mother testified of how she accepted Christ, after she had heard her children sing "Jesus Lover My Soul" in the Indian tongue. According to the speaker the Indians now in Idaho have Tepees, or tents much similar to those of the ancient Indians, of before Columbus' time. But the speaker said that cleanliness followed the gospel message, and an interest in questions of right and wrong.

BOX FOR MASSEY FAILED TO ARRIVE

MUSICAL COMPANY WILL PLAY HERE

It became known today that the ballot box intended for Massey beat failed to arrive in time for holding the election Tuesday. The box was sent out by the sheriff, but owing to some misunderstanding or neglect it was not delivered to the proper authorities. The result was that Massey beat failed to vote in the regular election. This is quite an unusual thing to happen, and is perhaps the very first time an incident of this character has occurred in this country. The box was properly started to its destination, but owing to some miscarriage of plans failed to arrive.

Of course everyone understands that this is just one of those unavoidable incidents, and the fact that the votes of Massey beat will not figure in the total count, will not change the result any material amount.

The ballot boxes are being returned to the courthouse rapidly today from the country districts, owing to the fact that it was possible to make the count much more rapidly than when the primary was held. The fact that the probate judge and circuit clerk were candidates before the regular election, being the nominees of their party in the primary, they are ineligible in the capacity of a canvassing board, which board will meet to canvas the returns at the courthouse at noon Friday, November 10th. The law provides that the sheriff shall appoint three reputable free-holders whose duties it shall be to meet on the above date and hour to perform this duty.

JUDGE FERRIS RETURNS THANKS

Judge Eugene Ferris, who has been quite ill with dengue fever is able to be out, and will leave soon for Gulf Port, Miss. to recuperate. He expects to return in about two weeks and open a Justice of the Peace office on Bank Street. He desires The Daily to express his appreciation to all who contributed to his election.

ORGANIZE KIWANIS CLUB AT ATHENS AS TWIN CITY VISITORS GATHER AT BANQUET

Charter Membership Totals 35 At Initial Meeting Of New Organization

THOMAS SANDERS FIRST PRESIDENT OF THE CLUB

Many Addresses Were Made, Pledging Cooperation For Civic Upbuilding

Prominent members of the Morgan Kiwanis Club returned from Athens last night, where they set up a new Kiwanis Club of 35 members at a meeting held in the Masonic Temple of Athens. The officers of the new organization are: President Thomas Sanders; Secretary Richard Hatchett; Treasurer Leon P. Cartwright; Membership Committee: Joseph Sarver, Chairman; House Committee J. F. Johnson, chairman publicity committee; George Duncan, chairman.

The organization meeting was preceded with a banquet tendered the visitors from Albany and Decatur by the prospective members of the new club. Among those making addresses were: T. M. Dix, Fred Wall, J. H. Calvin, president of the Morgan Kiwanis club; J. W. Clopton, Rev. R. T. Taylor, pastor of the First Methodist church of Athens, and Dr. B. B. Glasgow, president of Athens Women's College.

The new elected president, Thomas Sanders, made an appropriate address, and expressed the appreciation of the people of Athens for the interest manifested by the visitors, and told them that the Kiwanis club of Athens would seek to perform a similar service, as reports showed had been performed by the Morgan Kiwanis Club.

When Rev. R. T. Tyler, pastor of the First Methodist church of Athens was called on he responded in his usual happy manner, and outlined some of the things he thought could be done to advantage by the new organization.

Dr. B. B. Glasgow, president of the Athens College, made one of the witty and wise addresses of the evening, and called attention to large field of service open to Kiwanians everywhere.

In speaking as its President for the Morgan Kiwanis club, J. H. Calvin, outlined the mode of procedure in starting out with a new organization, based on his experience with the Morgan club. He called special attention to the preliminary work.

T. M. Dix made one of the most acceptable addresses of the evening calling special attention to the power of Kiwanianism to draw men together and to unite them in brotherly love. This speaker declared that the atmosphere of the meetings of the Morgan club was charged with good feeling for all and spirit of service for all. A number of other visitors spoke including, J. W. Clopton, D. D. McGee.

An interesting feature of the evening's entertainment was the singing of the local quartette composed of T. G. Crane, B. B. Pickens, Henry Davis and David Perkins. The banquet was universally described as passing words in its excellence, and in the delightful manner in which it was served. The banqueters were considerably enlivened by the sound of hurrying dancers overhead in the Masonic rooms above, and inquiry revealed that a rehearsal was in progress for the Masonic minstrel to be held on the 10th, in the auditorium of the Masonic temple. "Prospectively they are going to have a great entertainment the 10th," declared one of the returning visitors to Athens.

THE WHISKEY MUGGLERS' TRUST.

A great stride in law enforcement is being made by the federal grand juries, stretching from Maine to Florida, who now are investigating the operations of an immense "whiskey smugglers' trust."

It long has been suspected that such a trust or combination of law violators existed. Law violation on a large scale is not the result of independent violation of individuals, but it is directed with shrewdness, resourcefulness and financial backing by a man or a group of men.

That has been found to be the case in the whiskey traffic. Large amounts of liquor have been smuggled into this country from the Bahama Islands and from Cuba, by way of Florida and other Atlantic coast points. Much of this liquor has found its way far into the interior by means of motor trucks and whiskey cars. When one of these big whisky cars was captured, there always was found someone to make bond for the case in the courts. If beaten in the first trial, an appeal was taken.

This law violators' combination has not stopped at organization and expenditure of money for importing transporting whiskey. It also has succeeded in corrupting many officials, some of them in the federal enforcement ranks. Were it not so, it would have been impossible to carry on a successful business.

If the governor really is in earnest in this series of grand jury prosecutions, it is going to get results, and it is going a long way toward breaking up one of the largest sources of supply of illicit liquor. This done, and the job of enforcing the prohibition laws will have been made much easier.—Gadsden Journal.

WHAT CONSTITUTES GOOD CITIZENSHIP?

The brilliant young editor, Frank Banchard, Jr., of the Foley Onlook, is moved to say:

"This is the best country under the sun. It will be an even better one when you do your full duty as a citizen. America needs the best that is in each of her sons."

Well and happily said, which induces Thomas L. Cannon, the veteran editor of the Alabama Traveling Men's Journal, to rise with a voice, loud and strong, of approval. He says:

"That is the right talk, straight from the shoulder, a body blow over the heart. Those who do not agree with that way of speaking, of writing or thinking, should go to any country they think is better than this state, and stay there."

There is a deal more in good citizenship than appears on the surface of things. What we should prize, and should encourage is the jewel of good citizenship. It would be inspiring, should all dwellers in our state, in our fair land, possess this character of citizenship. It should be desired as a glorious decoration and once achieved could well be worn upon the forehead that it might be seen and respected of all true men and women. It should be our National Order of Merit. As a decoration it could make the Roman Eagle look like the blueprint of a puny sparrow.

Citizenship has expanded much in the flight of centuries. The man accounted a good citizen today must have accomplished something. Among other things he must have conquered himself. He loves his country, respects her flags. He defends her institutions. He obeys her laws. He sets not his own will and desire above the desires and will of others. He acknowledges the gospel of the greater good to the greater number.

He may not have shared in the making of his country's constitution and statutes, but he recognizes the authority of the lawful chosen representatives of the people. While withholding approval of their judgment, he still gives unquestioned obedience to their powers. He knows that government of the people, by the people and for the people must be grounded upon a prompt and wholesome recognition of the law and the machine of its creation.

Perhaps the Eighteenth Amendment has seemed especially onerous to him. It has disturbed his conception of personal justice; it has impaired the privilege of a lifetime; it has taken command of the individual conscience. But if he flouts or defies it he is in tune with the anarchist and the lawbreaker. He is out of step with good and clean citizenship of America. And if there are those among us who do not believe in our way of speaking, of writing, of thinking, and of doing things, as Editor Tom Cannon well says, they "should go to any country they think is better than this country, any state they think better than this state, and stay there."—Montgomery Journal.

CANCER WEEK

Cancer week has come to be an annual event in America. Its purpose is to emphasize the menace of the disease and to instruct people in their duty in regard to it.

Cancer kills 100,000 Americans a year and makes sufferers of thousands more.

The medical profession is frank to say that as yet there is no specific cure for cancer, but it is equally frank in saying that the victim of cancerous attack is by no means without hope—provided he will act promptly.

At the first signs of a persistent growth on his body one should immediately consult a reputable physician. In thousands of cases early diagnosis will lead to treatment, either by cauterizing or operating with a knife. The X-ray and radium treatment also are efficacious in many cases, but in all cases it is essential that treatment be applied early before the growth spreads and becomes uncontrollable.

It is possibly not too much to say that any cancerous growth on the exterior of the body can be checked if found early enough; but of course when the growth begins the attack from the interior of the body it is more difficult problem.

The best laboratory talent in the world is working late into the night in unnumbered chambers seeking to find the cause of cancer. This found, then a sure antidote to the disease may be found.

To date science has not been able to isolate the cancer germ. Indeed many of the most advanced students of the subject believe that it is not caused by a germ. It appears to them that cancer is but the result of cells that reproduce themselves too rapidly. Why constant friction or irritation should cause this, they do not know.

They do know that cancer is not contagious. They do know that it is not hereditary; although the type of skin and flesh most susceptible to cancer growth is hereditary.

The popular education which observance of Cancer Week promotes will prove its value. Thousands of people have the beginnings of cancer growth but do not realize it. Other thousands have it, but do not take the proper precautions nor follow up instructions of their physicians—if they have ever consulted physicians. Other thousands, demanding diagnosis and treatment, on the first appearance of strange irritations, are ridding themselves of the danger of future suffering and death.

It is to get people to beware in time, and to use common sense—Oh how priceless is common sense in dealing with every thing that concerns us!—that the medical profession asks us to observe Cancer Week in the United States and Canada.—Montgomery Advertiser.

TREE PLANTING IN NEW YORK

The progress of reforestation in New York state is indicated by the fact that the conservation commission received in September orders for more than 500,000 trees for fall planting. Most of these trees will be set out on non-agricultural lands, which is a circumstance of economic importance. The demand for Norway spruce has been good, one of the largest single orders coming from the Chateaugay Pulp & Paper Co., which is setting out 150,000 of these trees. In municipal planting the palm goes to Carthage, in Jefferson county, which was the first New York village to take up reforestation. It now boasts of having the finest municipal forest of any community of its size in the United States, 585,000 trees having been planted on 2,000 acres of local watershed. Trees planted fifteen years ago are now from fifteen to eighteen feet in height and have a diameter of six inches. It is estimated that a million feet of lumber will be cut annually from this reserve when it reaches its best development. School districts in various parts of the state are taking an interest in the reforestation movement. The pioneer among them is the town of Constable, ten acres planted in Scotch and white pine and has increased the reserve. Watson, in Lewis county, has laid out a ninety-four-acre school forest area. The planting so far comprises 24,000 trees and the work will be prosecuted vigorously until the entire plot is filled. Other communities are taking up the work in a systematic way. It is easy to enlist the sympathies of the youth of the country in tree planting. There is pleasure in the mere act of putting something into the ground and watching it grow.—New York Herald.

The soy bean has for several years engaged the attention of the planters over the country, and experiments have been made from time to time of this leguminous soil building plant, but it remains for Mr. Roper who lives near here, to demonstrate the full qualities of this splendid soil building plant, as well as a hay product. Sample of the plant were being exhibited here by him to day, well over six feet in height, full of beans, and four stalks growing out of one hill. He had two or three acres of this quality, and harvested from it a considerable quantity of fine hay, which he was able to save without any rain on it. It is quite sure that if more attention was paid to farming of this character, there would be more net results therefrom. The beans were on just average land, on which there had been no special preparation.

The gentle rain which began to fall over the county about noon Monday was joyfully welcomed by every one, it being more benefit to the farmers over the county than to any others. They had been waiting for some time for something like a season to begin the turning of their land for the next crop, and Tuesday morning at many places could be seen men and teams turning in small grain for cover crops, to protect the land from leaching process occasioned by the rains of the winter. It is now possible to get to the bottom lands and turn them also, which adds very materially to the future crop. Many of the city and town gardeners can now get their turnips sown with a certainty of a stand. Rain and sunshine are two of the most valuable elements. Of the latter we have an abundance; now the other will no doubt come in plentiful portioon.

The mortgage system which has held sway in the South since the civil war, is giving way. Cold cash is taking the place of mortgages in order that they might be able to raise what the world needs to subsist upon. The latter plan marks a new era in the business alignment of the Southern planter, and its beneficent results will be seen on every hand.

Rid a pea fowl of his tail adornment and he is never seen on parade. This adornment is his stock in trade, and when shorn of it he is humiliated to a degree that he seeks the backyard.

On a smooth and even line of procedure the autumn season is merging into the winter months without a jar or any uncomfortable conditions. Just a blending which in this instance has come so gradually, that it is hardly noticeable, except for the vari-colored foliage with which the forest trees are now adorned.

In the South we are comparatively free from the shocking tragedies which have occurred in other portions of the country. We are too busy with other things of a worth while nature to even consider the revolting things which other sections of the country are hearing in the courts of the land. That the Southland may continue to be practically free of such, should be the earnest prayer of everyone.

In a little less than a month we will be right face to face with the Christmas season. How many little hearts are now pulsating with renewed energy as they contemplate the time of holly wreaths, fruit cake, toys and other things which abound at that season. While we who are grown have reveled in these childish pleasures in the past, and many of us have children of our own who are just now entering this happy period, we should take on a part of the season each time, and enter into the innocent sports and the spirit of the occasion, with a joy, because we are enabled to make some one else happy. In doing this we are twice blessed.

The chain of unified thought which leads to intelligent action, is broken when distrust creeps in.

The farmer can well say now, I told you so. This in reference to the better price he is receiving for his product over the past few years.

Decision is the key pin which connects and holds all the other things necessary to successfully carry out the plans thus arrived at.

Great minds see into the future, like the trained eye of an engineer on the midnight express, as he peers out into the darkness that he may guide his train aright. Sometimes it is necessary to carry on a great campaign of education to sustain the point of view held by the deep thinker. Finally, the very things which he advocates are accepted, and become a rule of action upon the part of those who differed so strenuous with him. It is all from the view point after all.

The ancient idea that a man had to be a good dancer in order to make a successful diplomat has about vanished. It has given place to the milder requirement that he shall be ready to shake hands at a moment's notice.—Washington Star.

SMART TOGS FOR WINTER SPORTSKnickers Are "In,"
for the Practical
Is Now The Thing

By ANNETTE BRADSHAW

WHILE skill in winter sports is dependent for the greatest part on well-trained muscles, bespeaking effort and practice, being properly clothed and equipped for the occasion plays no small share. And if one combines practicability and smartness of costume the sport becomes an added pleasure.

Essentially practical and smart in every detail are the sport togs depicted here. At the left, gray homespun knickers checked in green are topped by a heavy white sweater of the slip-on variety. Soft, thick brushed wool, in gray to match the knickers, forms the scarf, tam and gauntlet gloves. White wool stockings and white laced boots with skates attached complete the costume.

Equally suitable for skiing, skating or any sport which takes one out in the cold winter air, is the knicker costume at the right, of light brown tweed trimmed in caracul of deeper shade. The comfortable coat, long enough for added warmth about the hips, is tied at the waist by a narrow self-material girdle, while caracul forms the snug-fitting chin-collar and turn-back cuffs. The hat of Russian inspiration follows out the caracul and tweed combination. Brown wool stockings and heavy brown boots complete the sports idea.

Both of these costumes insure the wearer the satisfaction of being correctly attired, and at the same time enjoying warmth and perfect freedom of movement.

METER CASES UP

The Alabama Power Company is plaintiff in the cases which have been tried in the Morgan county court up to this time. The cases grew out of the alleged tampering with and stopping the electric meters furnished by the company to users of their product. A similar case was the first to engage the attention of the court at the opening session today.

Miss Emerson was Eugene's music teacher.

Later in life Field's love of his own children took the place of his early love which he gave to pets. Francis Wilson, the delightful "The Eugen Field I Knew," writes:

"It's especially delightful in children, who, like himself, were fond of fairy tales, folk lore and mythology, who loved Santa Claus, and who had sufficient imagination to see things at night."

"There is no length to which Field would not go to entertain children, especially his own. Each morning his own little boy, 'Proddy,' would come into his father's room at 8 o'clock for a romp."

NEIGHBORS WERE ASTONISHED AT CHANGE IN HER

Judge Nelson Phillips

"I had lost nearly all faith in medicines, but I am thankful a thousand times over that I ever believed in Tanlac strong enough to try it," recently said Mrs. Martha Baker, 503 East Sixth St., Gastonia, N. C.

"My daughter thinks I might not be here now if I had not used Tanlac, and no doubt she is right, for I was failing pretty fast. The lightest kind of food hurt me and many times I could not retain anything I would eat. I was also fearfully nervous, couldn't sleep, and got up mornings completely worn out."

"After I got Tanlac I improved so rapidly that my neighbors were astonished and wanted to know what I was doing for myself. I am just like a new person now and I know at least a dozen people who have taken Tanlac and got well on account of what it did for me."

HOW TWO WOMEN ESCAPED OPERATIONS

Doctor Advised Use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Happy Results in Both Cases

St. Joseph, Missouri.—"Both of my sides swelled and hurt me so that I could not move or do any of my work. There was heavy pressure and pains through my lower organs and the doctor told me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for these troubles. He said I had this one chance, and if the Vegetable Compound did not help me nothing but an operation would. After taking several bottles it felt it was helping me, and now I am able to do my own work. If my testimonial will help others I shall be glad for them to read it and hope your Vegetable Compound will do them as much good as it did me." —Mrs. MARY MARK, 37 Hamilton Ave., White Plains, N. Y.

Some female troubles may through neglect reach a stage when an operation is necessary. But most of the commoner ailments are not the surgical ones; they are not caused by serious displacements, tumors, or growths, although the symptoms may appear the same.

When disturbing ailments first appear, take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to relieve the present distress and prevent more serious troubles. Many letters have been received from women who have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound after operations have been advised by attending physicians.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Private Text-Book upon "Ailments Peculiar to Women" will be sent you free upon request. Write to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Massachusetts. This book contains valuable information.

Democratic nominees fared the same. It is simply a Democratic year, as evidenced by the wire returns from other states, and of course the Democrats have cause for rejoicing.

The Port Amendment went through with a rush. There has never been any organized effort to defeat it here, and very few voted against the measure.

SOLDIERS VICTORIOUS

CHICAGO, Nov. 8.—Soldier of the World War in every state where the bonus was an issue won in the election yesterday.

In four states bonus propositions were on the ballots and all won overwhelmingly.

In Illinois and Kansas, the vote was nearly three to one in favor of the proposition, and it was two to one in California and better than two to one in Iowa.

The veterans made spirited campaigns in the states where the question was to be voted upon. Figures were used in publicity and advertising showing what had done in the way of aiding the veterans by state bonus measures.

YOUR HEALTH

How You Should Act In One Uncommon Emergency

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
Commissioner of Health, New York City

FOR some reason, difficult to understand, obstruction of the bowel is a very serious condition.

One may be constipated and have no bowel movement for a week. This is an uncomfortable state of affairs, but life is not endangered as a result. But obstruction of the bowel, continuing for two or three days, is very apt to prove fatal.

Fortunately, this trouble is uncommon. It does not come from trifling causes and the conditions which produce it are rarely met.

Since some of the causes of obstruction are things which can be corrected or avoided, it is well for us to consider them. Perhaps this knowledge will result in the removal of a source of danger and make it possible for some one to live a longer and more productive life.

We medical men make a distinction between "obstruction" and "impaction." I am dubious about the latter term, as it sounds to me.

Impaction is in most cases due to uncleanliness, faulty eating.

In "popping" corn you remember that some of the kernels, especially if the corn is damp or not fresh, do not pop open, producing big, white, appetizing popped corn. On the contrary, they are left in the form of hard, brittle, slightly cracked and swollen, beadlike pellets.

I saw one rather serious case of impaction, due to the imperfect chewing and swallowing of large quantities of this unpopped corn, or similar trash. This was due to a two-day diet of uncooked wheat and other cereals.

These cases of impaction, and in rather simple measures, consisting of rectal injections, are readily overcome.

Obstruction of the bowel, unless it comes from some growth inside the intestine, is due to pressure placed on the outside of the intestinal wall.

The most common offender is scar tissue. The presence of scar tissue is due to one of two things: operation or inflammation.

Any operation where the abdomen is opened will leave scars, or less scar tissue.

The difference between a good operation and a poor one lies, among other things, in the care with which the surgeon guards against unnecessary mutilation and damage of the tissues.

Inflammation of the bowel—peritonitis—is it called—resulting in pus formation, will produce adhesion in the abdomen.

Sometimes these scars reach all the way round the outer wall of the intestine, forming a band of scar tissue.

Such tissue is inclined to contract and may do so to such a degree as to cut off or strangle the bowel.

In other cases there are tough bands or strings of scar tissue—extending across one side of the abdominal cavity. These twisting, moving and sliding of the intestines may be followed by a part of the intestinal tract getting wrapped around one of these bands with resulting strangulation.

In hernia or rupture, a part of the bowel slips through a break in a weak place in the abdominal wall. Sometimes this piece of intestine gets twisted

Answers to Health Questions

M. H. Q.—My two upper front teeth are gradually separating from the others and protrude slightly. I am physically well and my dentist says that he finds no mark. What would you advise me to do?

A.—I would suggest that you consult your dentist for a blood-test and the advisability of using a mouth-wash.

A. B. Q.—I am a woman 21 years old and am troubled with nervousness and with severe headaches. I also get dizzy spells and am now afraid to go out alone. Will you kindly tell me what to do?

A.—You should have a complete examination, including an eye test and urinalysis. After the cause of your trouble is located, treatment can be prescribed.

Dr. Copeland will answer for readers of this paper questions on medical, hygienic and sanitation subjects that are of general interest. Where the subject of a letter is such that it cannot be published in this column, Dr. Copeland will, when the question is a proper one, write you personally, if a self-addressed, stamped envelope is enclosed. CHANGE OF LIFE

Florida Lady Was in a Miserable Condition, But Says She Found Cardui Helpful, and Got Well.

Alpha, Fla.—In explaining how she found Cardui so helpful during change of life, Mrs. Ella M. Bailey, of Route 2, this place, said:

"I became so weakened it was an effort for me to get around. I knew what was the matter, but I felt like I couldn't give up."

"I just dragged, and I certainly was nervous. I was so restless I could not sit down long—yet so weak I couldn't get about. It is a most miserable and such a helpless feeling."

"I would get depressed and out of heart. I began to feel, after awhile, there was no use to try to get well. This is all wrong, for it makes a person worse."

"I had heard of Cardui, and thought it might strengthen me. A neighbor had used it with good results."

"I took one bottle (of Cardui), then I saw I wasn't so nervous, so kept it up. Gradually the nervousness left me. I began to eat and sleep better. Was soon well, and all right. Cardui did wonders for me, and I certainly do recommend it."

Thousands of other women have written, to tell of the beneficial results obtained by taking Cardui, and to recommend it to others.

EIGHTH DIVISION'S CASES SCHEDULED

(Montgomery Bureau, Albany-Decatur Daily.)

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Nov. 8—Alabama's supreme court and court of appeals will take up the call of divisions for cases appealed from the trial courts next Tuesday, starting a term which will not end until June 30.

The new term began the second Monday in October but no call of division was set until the second Monday in November.

It is probable that a large number of decisions will be handed down by the two courts next week, the court of appeals rendering its decisions Tuesday and the supreme court Thursday.

The call of divisions follows:

First division—Composed of the counties of Baldwin, Clarke, Mobile,

Monroe and Washington, November 14.

Fifth division—Composed of the counties of Chambers, Chilton, Coosa, Elmore, Lee, Macon, Russell and Tallapoosa, November 21.

Sixth division—Composed of the counties of Blount, Calhoun, Fayette, Jefferson, Lamar, Marion, Pickens, Tuscaloosa, Walker and Winston, November 28.

Third division—Composed of the counties of Autauga, Butler, Conecuh, Escambia, Lowndes and Montgomery, December 19.

Seventh division—Composed of the counties of Calhoun, Cherokee, Clay, Cleburne, DeKalb, Etowah, Randolph, Shelby, St. Clair and Talladega, January 9.

Fourth division—Composed of the counties of Barbour, Bullock, Coffee, Covington, Crenshaw, Dale, Geneva, Henry, Houston and Pike, January 16.

Eighth division—Composed of the counties of Colbert, Franklin, Jackson, Lauderdale, Lawrence, Limestone, Madison, Marshall and Morgan, January 30.

JOYFUL FAMILY REUNION

"Two of my brothers, a sister, as well as myself have been chronic sufferers from gas in stomach, indigestion, pain in right side near appendix and liver trouble for many years. My sister tried May's Wonderful Remedy with such god results that we all took a course of it and it helped in each case. Last Sunday we had a family reunion in celebration of our recovery and what we all did eat." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. By all druggists everywhere—adv't.

Second division—Composed of the counties of Bibb, Choctaw, Dallas, Greene, Hale, Marengo, Perry, Sumter and Wilcox, February 6.

Each call will continue one week except the sixth division, including Jefferson, which may continue two weeks if one week is not long enough for the submission of all appeals.

Largest Frost Of Season Evident

The largest frost of the season was evident early this morning, being termed a killing frost. This is the third heavy frost of the season but owing to the dry conditions prevailing there is much vegetation yet to be seen. A peculiar feature of the frost is the fact that such tender vegetation as tomato and Irish potato vines are still green, and the green tomatoes on the vines at this time do not seem to be injured in the least. In many of the gardens there is yet being gathered some nice ripe tomatoes. This is quite late for them to be gathered thus, ordinarily it is necessary to pull up the vines and store in a dry place, when the tomatoes will ripen to real freezing weather.

"The Eye of the Mummy" Affords Role of Great Dramatic Force PRINCESS TODAY Egypt the fantastic, the exotic, the mystic, has an old fascination. For centuries this has persisted and even today the solution is not forthcoming. Novels dealing with the land excite the curiosity of all readers and are assured of an insistent sale.

Music having in it the throb and pulsing of the broad wind-swept desert, is compelling and stirs the senses. Ranking equally in importance with these is the motion picture which has Egypt for its setting and which reflects the life and atmosphere of the country.

Such a production is "The Eyes of the Mummy," Pola Negri's latest Paramount picture. It tells of a beautiful girl, kept prisoner in an ancient desert tomb by a fanatical old man and used to fascinate visitors by peering at them with mystic eyes from out of a mummy case, thus making them believe that they were being spell-bound by the mummy. This had the desired effect of scaring them away, for the old man feared that they might desecrate the tomb, he being a worshipper of the ancient religion for which the edifice stands. This leads to strange happenings which carry the girl into other lands and through many weird adventures.

"The Eyes of the Mummy," repudiated possession of some of the most magnificent settings seen on the screen in a long while, comes to the Princess theater on Today. Emil Jannings plays opposite the star.

WILL NOT REPLY

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Nov. 7.—(Special)—Governor Kilby probably will not make a reply to the statement of George W. Ellis, state treasurer, which he published Sunday morning in defense of his employment of one daughter as chief clerk of the state treasury and the retention of another as assistant clerk.

Please Remit.

The married man in the office had failed to send him his $125.00 monthly allowance. Six days after pay day he received a most ominous letter: "Dear Bob," was wrote. "No letter came today. Maybe you are sick, so be careful of the food, sleep good, live good, and soon send a money order by return mail. Your anxious wife."—The Letherback.

Opossums in New Zealand.

Opossums, which were introduced into New Zealand from Australia many years ago, have increased until they have become a pest in the fruit-growing regions. Nevertheless, their value for fur outweighs any damage they do. It is therefore proposed to give them every chance to breed in the forested regions.

The Ash.

The ash has been less noticed for its autumnal foliage than it deserves. The richest shades of plum-color to be seen—becoming by and by, or in certain lights, a deep maroon—are afforded by this tree. Then at a distance there seems to be a sort of bloom on it, as upon the grape or plum. —John Burroughs.

Feeble With Age?

A colleague that should be banished is "telling a joke." Most jokes of to-day do not spring; they are pushed and tattered helpless a few feet away. —President of Commerce.

New York Letter

by Lucy Jeanne Price

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Since "East Side, West Side, All around the town" has come to be one of the popular songs of the season again due to the gubernatorial candidacy of one of our native sons, interest has been renewed in the old Bowery. I took a walk down there the other day just to see for myself how song-inspiring it would seem nowadays. It lacks the old-time flavor. There is no doubt about that. Not a single panhandler asked me for "the price of a cup of coffee;" not one passer-by could I identify as thug-like; not even were there children dancing on the pavement. Well-built business houses have replaced the old sagging structures, and an air of dignity pervaded the thoroughfare. The old Bowery was gone! I was discouraged at not finding even a bit of it, until I came across a restaurant, advertising a cup of "best Java coffee, three cents."

Here will be the opportunity to find the typical business woman of the world, if such a person exists. A congress of self-supporting women from all parts of the country will meet here during the twenty-fifth anniversary celebration of Greater New York, according to the plans of the American Women's Association. It is estimated that there will be over 50,000 of them gathered in our city for the meeting. The celebration will be held next year, when the quarter century mark is reached since the Queens and the Bronx decided to throw their lot in with Manhattan and create the second largest city in the world. It seems particularly appropriate that women should act as hostesses for the occasion, since their own forging to the front has been so rapid during those same twenty-five years. Working with Miss Robinson Smith, President of the Women's Association, are Miss Anne Morgan, Miss Miriam K. Oliver, Mrs. Daniel Guggenheim, Miss Maud Westmore, Mrs. Henry Wiggleworth and others of national prominence.

Word reached here not long ago that the Canadian roads were installing separate smokers for their lady passengers. A storm of protest followed and for all we know the idea was abandoned. But right here on the lines coming in to New York milady is invading the smokers and puffing away to her heart's content. It developed in the complaint of a portly commuter that he could not get a seat in the smoker, because women were occupying the seats, and worse yet, smoking as well. One woman noticed was a very well groomed, intelligent appearing person, who added insult to injury by holding a red rose between the slender fingers of one hand and the invidious stem of nicotine in the other. The complainant got little comfort from the conductor. "Sure she is, but nobody's paying any attention to her but you. She is smoking and minding her own business, which is all we ask of any smoker. There's no law that I know of to prevent a woman from smoking on a train if she wants to, so long as she smokes in the smoker." He might just as well have said, "Put that in your pipe and smoke it!"

have the role of Mark Sabre, and that the stage treatment needed to make is equal cause for rejoicing. That him hold our affections as firmly as wan, quizzical, likeable man will get he did in the book.

DODGE BROTHERS MOTOR CAR

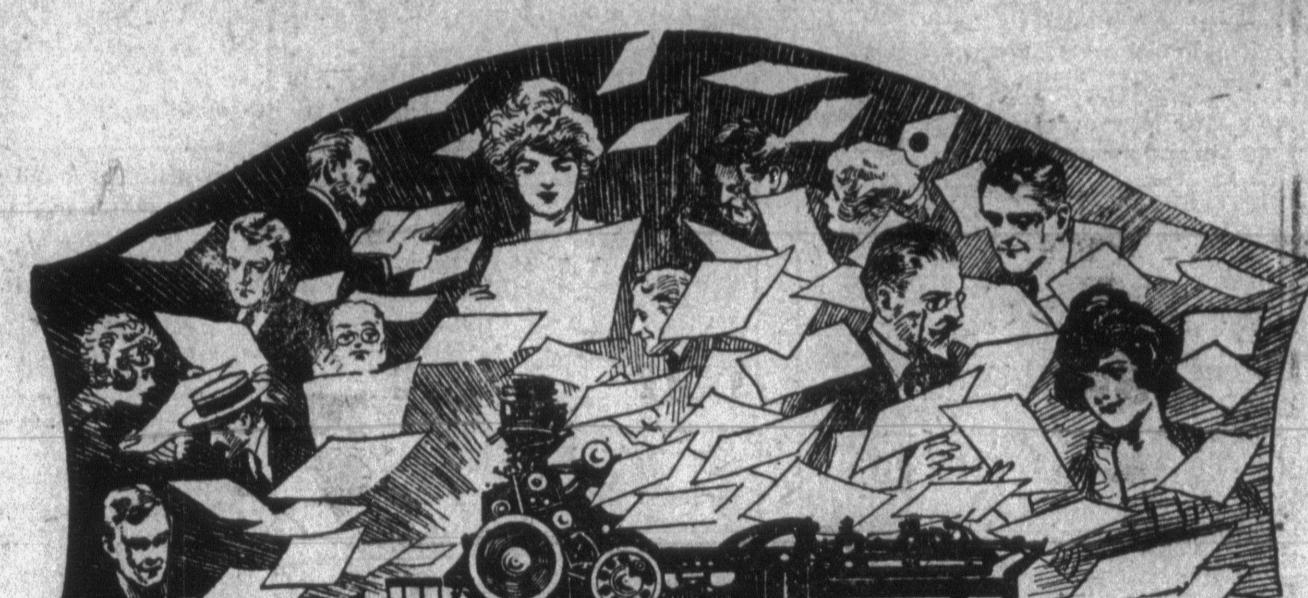

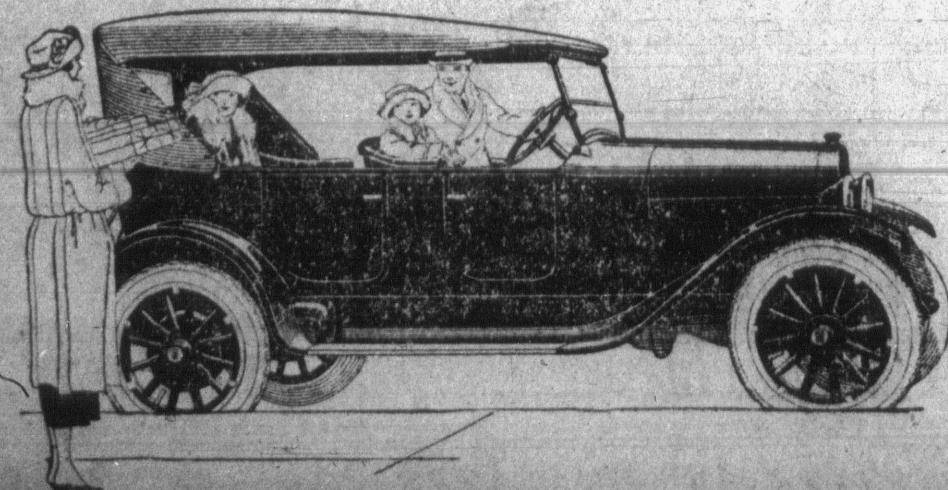

The evenness of performance so often remarked in Dodge Brothers Motor Cars is due, in no small part, to the thoroughness with which each unit is inspected during the process of manufacture and assembly.

A trained staff of 800 experts is employed in this work alone, and approximately 5285 individual inspections are made on each car.

So exacting and rigid are the standards applied to these inspections that the slightest variation either in workmanship or material is instantly discovered and rejected.

Dodge Brothers are almost over-scrupulous in their constant aim to make each car as sound and perfect as is humanly possible.
